NAZI BATTLESHIP SUNK IN ATLAS OCEAN IN LOSS OF HOOD

Germans Pound At Candia Defences To Set Up Bridgehead

British and Greek Troops Stubbornly Resist Repeated Nazi Onslaughts As City Becomes Centre Of Battle

CAIRO, May 27.—(AP)—Greek sources said today that the Germans thus far have lost 18,000 lives in the attempt to take Crete. This figure includes 5,000 believed to have been lost at sea while trying to invade the island in boats.

LONDON, May 27.—(CP)—The city of Candia became the focal point of the Battle of Crete today as Nazi sky troops hammered at its defences in a desperate attempt to establish a bridgehead for sea-borne reinforcements to land on the Greek island.

Crete Battle "In Balance" Says Premier

LONDON, May 27.—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, reviewing the war for the House of Commons today, announced that the German battleship Bismarck had been sunk in the North Atlantic but said the battle for Crete was still hanging "in the balance."

In the battle for Crete, the Prime Minister said, the British Mediterranean fleet had suffered the loss of two cruisers and four destroyers. He added that Gen. B. C. Freyberg, British commander at Crete, was being rushed reinforcements.

Several thousand German troops had been landed in the Nazis at temples at landings that he said.

The new Nazi eight-inch cruiser which was accompanying the Bismarck was intercepted, he predicted.

He identified the consort cruiser as the Prince Eugen.

U.S. President Asks Big Sum For Airplanes

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—In the midst of preparing a momentous pronouncement on government policy, President Roosevelt asked the United States Congress today for $23,150,000 in appropriations for additional airplanes.

Simply after presidential secretary, told reporters the president would extend his message tonight as early as 10 minutes after midnight.

"I think you can say that by Wednesday morning there can no longer be any doubt as to what the national policy of this government is. I think I'll just stand on that."

Early announced the request for huge new funds for planes was a severe blow to the inference that the Capital Hill would be in Speaker Sam Rayburn's hands.

Of the total, $2,760,000 would be for the army and $20,390,000 for the navy.

Early declined to estimate the number of planes to be ordered.

Today's War Moves

THE British navy showed today that it is still boss of the Atlantic.

The loss of the Bismarck is a severe blow to the inference that the German fleet, far out of proportion to Britain's loss of the Hood, is still boss of the Atlantic.

It was further from the Bismarck that the Hood. It was the first of the Bismarck's fleet, eventually sent the Bismarck to the bottom by British planes.

Combined Action By Warships, Torpedo Planes Sinks Ship

German Admiral and 1,300 Men Go To Bottom With Warship Finished Off By Torpedoes From Cruiser Dorsetshire

LONDON, May 27.—(CP)—Germany's proud new battleship Bismarck, crippled and staggering in wild circles under the blows of aerial torpedoes, was sunk today by the combined might of the Royal navy and its air arm in full revenge for destruction of the Battle Cruiser Hood.

At 11 o'clock this morning, three days after the Hood had been blown to bits by a hit in the magazine from one of the Bismarck's 15-inch shells, the 35,000-ton Bismarck herself settled under the surface of the Atlantic.

Down with her went some 1,300 men, a German admiral, Guenther Luetjens, and about one-fourth of Germany's known capital ship strength.

Slowed Down To Speed Of Eight Knots

The 9,975-ton British cruiser Dorsetshire rammed home torpedoes which finished off the Bismarck after she had been shelled into helplessness by British "heavy ships" and destroyers.

The Admiralty, in a long communique describing the chase and destruction of the Bismarck, said the Nazi battleship had been slowed down to a speed of about eight knots after being hit by two aerial torpedoes and two torpedoes from British warships.

The communique disclosed that Royal Canadian Air Force planes based in Newfoundland participated in the long search for the Bismarck following the sinking of the Hood.

Playing a big part in the sinking of the Bismarck were torpedo planes from the Ark Royal, the aircraft carrier, often "sunk" by the Nazis. It was disclosed also that the new aircraft carrier Victorious—sister ship of the Illustrious and the Indomitable—is in service and participated in the Bismarck hunt.

Gibraltar Warships Join In Search

The hunt for the Bismarck also was joined by planes from the British coastal command and by warships moved up from Gibraltar, the Admiralty said.

British forces were directed to her by an American-made Catalina aircraft of the coastal command which sighted her about 550 miles west of Land's End in mid-morning yesterday.

The big Nazi man-o-war stopped after an attack by destroyers in the early hours of today, about 400 miles west of Brest, but later started steaming slowly and was declared by the Admiralty to be "still capable of heavy and accurate gunfire."

A plan to renew the attack by aircraft at dawn, it said, was cancelled owing to reduced visibility shortly after destroyers began firing at the Bismarck and then the bigger vessels of the Royal fleet joined in, but the Admiralty said "details of this phase of the action have not yet been received."

Dorsetshire Ordered To Finish Ship

The Dorsetshire finally was ordered to sink the Bismarck with torpedoes and she plunged beneath the waves at 11:01 (3:01 M.S.T.) this morning. Hudson planes attacked the Bismarck even before she left the Norwegian coast for her fatal sortie into the Atlantic, the air ministry news service announced.

Catalina flying boats were stalking her, it added, much of the time until she met the British naval forces.

It was just three days after the 42,100-ton Hood was blasted to pieces between Iceland and Greenland that units of the Royal navy, including the new 35,000-ton battleship Prince of Wales, caught up with her as she tried to make a French port, Brest or St. Nazaire.

Ship Eludes Pursuers In Bad Weather

She had been deserted by her escorting cruiser Prince Eugen, one of Germany's three cruisers of the 10,000-ton Hipper class.

"Messages are being taken with respect" to the Eugen, one of Germany's most powerful cruisers, an official statement said.

British sources disclosed the Bismarck eluded her pursuers one Saturday night in bad weather, but that a United States-built Catalina reconnaissance plane picked up her trail again Sunday before mid-day.

Planes launched from the Ark Royal, the aircraft carrier, again in a succession of attacks, it was related. It was not clear if the Bismarck was sunk, but it was reported that the Bismarck's last moments were accounted for by the British.

New Chapter Of Courage Is Written By British Fleet In Waters Around Crete Island

By LARRY ALLEN

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 27.—(AP)—British warships in the waters around Crete wrote a new chapter of courage under one of the heaviest air attacks in history, naval sources here said today, when, amid incessant battle against hundreds of Nazi dive bombers, they prevented landing by sea of a single German soldier on that island.

Constantly attacked by Nazi planes, dropping 1,000-pound bombs on the ships of the Royal Navy broke up Axis convoys attempting to reinforce air-borne divisions already on the island. The guns of the British warships turned red-hot firing thousands of shells into the swarms of sky raiders.

Officers said British battleships, cruisers and destroyers smashing one convoy and another in an extraordinary force of 30 waves, firing six-inch and four-inch anti-aircraft shells, at swimming dive bombers continually from dawn to dusk on May 25.

It was a day that, which will go down in history as marking one of the biggest aerial assaults ever made upon warships.

Scores of German dive bombers were shot down by the British anti-aircraft batteries while the other parts of the fleet were sinking one Italian destroyer and two transport ships and blasting swarms of cat-

Two Cruisers, J. G. Gardiner Resigns War Services Post

LONDON, May 27.—(CP)—The Royal Navy has lost the cruiser Gloucester and Fiji and the destroyers Janus, Grehound, Kelly and Kashmir in the battle of Crete, it was learned in authoritative circles here today.

In addition two battleships and several other cruisers have been damaged.

No sea-borne enemy troops have landed in Crete.

The German high command claimed yesterday that the Royal Navy had lost 13 cruisers, eight destroyers, four torpedo boats and one submarine in the battle of Crete and that a battleship and several other cruisers had been badly damaged.

The loss of the Bismarck reduced the number of German capital ships to three—the Tirpitz, the Bismarck, and the Gneisenau and Scharnhorst, whose ships of 20,000 tons, which have been under Royal Air Force bombardment at Brest since March.

The Bismarck was launched Feb. 14, 1939, the first of four ships (including the Tirpitz) built for the Royal Navy and London limitation. She was launched on Dec. 30, 1939, and was the first of four ships built for the Royal Navy and London limitation.

Hood between Greenland and Iceland Saturday, then went to the bottom in a battle with the Bismarck.

Capable of at least 30 knots, the Bismarck eluded other British fighting ships immediately after the fight with the Hood, but the Royal Navy kept her spinning and apparently under attack with long-range gunnery.

Announcement Throws House Into Upheaval

LONDON, May 27.—(HUP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill threw the House of Commons into an uproar this morning with the announcement that the Bismarck had been sunk.

Mr. Churchill had already promised the House that the Bismarck would pay in full for sinking the Hood. The House was in a state of excitement when the prime minister rose.

Then, with typical British calm, Churchill said: "I don't know whether I might venture with great respect to observe, but I have just received news that the Bismarck has been sunk."

He then said that the Bismarck was in a state of excitement when the prime minister rose.

subjected to an intense and continuous rain of air attacks in which, owing to geographical conditions, our air force has only been able to make a very limited but gallant counterpoint.

"We have not, however, been able to prevent other elements of our fleet from reinforcing the enemy and the result of this attack has grown from day to day."

"The battle has moved backward and forward, with indecisive results. At Creta and equally fierce, although on a smaller scale, at Reton and Hesperia (Gandia)."

HANG IN BALANCE

"Reinforcements of men and supplies have been reaching us in regular, General Freyberg's forces and at this moment the state of the hang-in balance."

"By the Royal Navy have prevented any landing of a sea-borne force, although a few ships and troops in Greece, which may have slipped through."

"Very heavy losses have been inflicted on the submarines, cruisers and destroyers upon transport ships and upon the enemy's ships and it is not possible to say with accuracy how heavy has been the damage."

"But our losses have been heavy and the damage to Crete has not been negligible, although the enemy's losses have been heavier."

EXAGGERATED CLAIMS

"Claims have been exaggerated and the German and Italian warships which have not been expended in the attack on Crete."

"Millionaires" Are Discussed In Parliament

OTTAWA, May 27.—(CP)—Examination of income tax returns might give "some indication of the number of new millionaires, if any, created since the war, but it would take an immense amount of research," Finance Minister Hiley told the House of Commons Monday.

"Discussion of 'war millionaires' cropped up during the Monday afternoon session of the House of Commons in committee of the bill to amend the excess profits tax act and to vary the rates of the tax with changes announced in the budget."

M. J. Coldwell, acting C.C.F. leader who raised the question some weeks ago during the budget debate, introduced it again yesterday.

He said he had been misrepresented as having said there were more than 20 new millionaires in Canada since the war started. He had merely repeated a report heard in Montreal which had appeared in some of the smaller newspapers here.

"WHOLLY INVENTED"

Mr. Hiley said he was "morally certain and entirely satisfied that these statements as to there being any particular number of millionaires in Canada are wholly invented."

The house speedily dealt with bills to amend the excess profits tax and the customs tariff, putting them through all stages, ready for the Senate, but debate delayed on the excess profits tax. All bills are incidental to the budget taxation changes.

Mr. Hiley also introduced the new succession duty bill which he said would not be proceeded with until Wednesday at the earliest.

The excess profits tax bill passed third reading at the evening sitting, and the house adjourned the rest of the sitting on the main estimates.

Mr. Coldwell, when he brought up the question of war millionaires, said he had examined reports of 28 of the 33 largest corporations in Canada since the war, after paying all taxes in 1940. They made about $40,000,000 more profits than in the previous year.

He mentioned the report of new millionaires being created and pressed the belief that after examination of this year's operations further changes in the excess profits tax act might be possible to effect a great contribution from corporations.

"DISRESPECT TO CANADA"

Conservative House Leader Hanson said he believed the source of such information as that on which the millionaires charge was based, should be revealed.

"Where did the get that information? This is part of the propaganda of the hate axis against the brave and the loyal upon the imagination of some one who wants to do a disservice to Canada in wartime."

Thomas Reid (Lib. New Westminster) said there should be a statement from the minister "because I know of no more disreputable statements than these allegations about millionaires being made."

In British Columbia, Mr. Reid said, "the statement is being made that millionaires are being made every day."

Mr. Hiley said he did not know how anybody could say how many millionaires there were in Canada, nor how he could find out for himself. The tax returns showed only income.

If these returns were analyzed as to income and investment, he said, he might get some indication but it would entail a great deal of research.

WHAT CO-OPERATIVES

J. K. J. Kinley (Lib. Queen's University) said he could not see how anybody could become a millionaire in Canada under present taxation conditions. He disclosed the fact that employees at the Canadian National railway were making large profits.

"Why should anyone in this country, especially in these critical days, escape the payment of a tax on any excess?" he asked.

"But we find that the wheat pools, which operate under the guise of co-operatives, though they are becoming a commercial dictatorship in this country, do not pay tax."

"This attitude threatened to precipitate a general debate until it was put out of order by Mr. De la Roche, the House chairman."

prey for the steel battleheads of the surface.

German aviation has played a similarly important part in the battle of the eastern Mediterranean, but the result there has been conclusive. Berlin's claim that the British fleet there "may be considered destroyed" should be taken with reserve.

It is worth noting that despite the German claim, there is no evidence that the Nazis have been able to land troops or supplies on Crete by sea. The British announce the loss of only two cruisers and four destroyers, with minor damage to the British fleet.

There will have to be further developments in the Mediterranean before it can be even suggested that British naval power has been broken.

GERMANY OUTMARCHED

Germany has attained overwhelming air superiority, and has used it effectively, but is outmarched on the surface. The Italian fleet and air arm have been outmarched by the British.

Two battleships, the King George V and the Prince of Wales, have been placed into commission since the war's start and they fill the gap left by the loss of Hood and the Royal Oak.

Early in the war the German navy was weak in June, 1940, during naval fighting off the coast of Norway. German sources claimed the Bismarck and Gneisenau scored the sinking.

Tax Proposals To Be Carried Out By Hiley

OTTAWA, May 27.—(CP)—Whether or not the provincial governments agree to withhold from the income tax field the federal government intends to proceed with its proposals as outlined in the budget, Finance Minister Hiley said in House of Commons Monday night.

These proposals involve increase of federal income taxes on individuals and corporations. If the provinces vacate the field for duration of the war the federal government offers to pay them an amount equal to their tax collections from these sources in 1940, or an amount equal to the service on their provincial debts.

Conservative House Leader Hanson asked what progress had been made in negotiations with the provinces and whether Mr. Hiley had heard from Ontario. The minister said he had not heard from Ontario.

"If the ministry does not hear from Ontario does he propose to put those proposals into effect?" Mr. Hanson asked.

"Well, I disagree with that," said Mr. Hanson, who then asked if the proposals might be taken effect pending the action of the Alberta government in cutting its bond interest in half.

Mr. Hiley said if Alberta's income tax revenue was greater than the federal debt service, the Alberta government would be in a position to choose to take the first alternative.

Mr. Hanson said that in case of a revenue surplus, the Dominion government would be in a position to choose to take the first alternative, a sum equal to its debt service.

The discussion took place on a bill amending the Excess Profits Tax act, which received its third reading.

1,500 More Italian Colonial Troops Taken By British

LONDON, May 27.—(CP)—The capture of 1,500 more Italian colonial troops in Ethiopia and a pickup in patrol activity as the Italian front were reported today by authoritative British sources.

This information followed reports last night from Cairo that four Italian divisions had been mopped up and 4,500 prisoners taken during recent operations in the mountain north and west of Addis Ababa.

Seven Italian armored cars were taken with the latest group of prisoners.

DR. MORTON IN CHARGE

In charge of the clinic is Dr. G. K. Morton.

There are on the unit's strength two doctors, two dentists, three nurses and two truck drivers.

Before the clinic enters a specific point, a department of health nurse visits the area and makes all necessary arrangements of the visit.

Main purpose of sending out the clinic is to bring to inaccessible rural points medical, dental and hospital services they would not otherwise obtain.

As a rule, the clinic remains at each point for two days. On the first, patients receive a complete physical examination. On the same day dental work, if required, is done. Children also are vaccinated against smallpox.

Tonsils and adenoids are removed on the second day, while any other surgical work of a minor nature, also is carried out. Then the clinic moves on to another town, each third day being allowed for moving.

It is recalled that last year the travelling clinic medically examined 3,786 children. It performed 644 dental operations, in addition, there were 143 other operations, of a minor nature. There were 150 children referred to dentists and 43 to hospitals for attention.

As many as 300 children have been examined and treated at one point.

Among the conditions found last year by the clinic were 28,000 foot and eye defects, 14 lung diseases.

Dental examinations last year for 3,787, of which 130 were given treatment. There were 1,509 fillings and 1,967 extractions.

Vaccinations last year totalled 1,000.

Estimates of $15,174 were provided by the legislature for the clinic's operations this year, the same as in previous years.

HEALTH EDUCATION

Discussing the worth of the clinic, Dr. Bunn stated that one of its features is the value of health education spread.

When children are brought to the clinic for examination, their general condition is discussed and parents are given advice as to diet, nutritive foods and so-called matters.

Following up the work of the clinic, a questionnaire is sent out asking parents of children examined and discussed, for information regarding children's weight and other matters. Action taken as a result of advice given by the clinic is also sought. The clinic also has much information of value in general preventive work. One valuable piece of information is to determine an area where children show a higher percentage of quite than in other districts. Iodine tablets and iodized salt are being supplied by the department to children centres.

Labor Time Order May Be Suspended Owing To Request

Consentation is being given by the board of industrial relations to the temporary suspension of the recent order prohibiting employment of females, with the exception of nurses or telephone operators, between 12 o'clock midnight and 6 a.m. Clayton Adams, chairman of the Board stated that such action was being considered. The industrial relations board was urged to delay implementing the order for a few months, in order that men could be trained for work after midnight.

When enacted, the order provided that it would become effective June 1. Representatives, having been made in the board, it is now expected that implementation will be delayed until a little later.

A delegation of representatives of restaurant operators recently appeared before the board at Calgary. Claim was advanced that the Order would embarrass these operators under existing conditions, owing to the difficulty of obtaining and training sufficient male help to supplant females as waitresses, who now work after midnight.

Mr. Adams stated that the board would hold a sitting here Tuesday and representation would be heard from Edmonton restaurant operators. A decision will be made following this.

HOLDS HIGH THE TORCH!

Over there is turmoil—the shock, the soul-searing agony of the worst war in World History.

For a long time, every wave that has reached our shores has brought a plea for help from our race and our kin across the seas. These people have said to us: "We cannot share your safety and comfort, will you help us to endure and conquer?"

And Canada has responded nobly. We have sent thousands of men to defend our civilization. We are training more men in tens of thousands. We have invested eagerly in War Bonds and War Savings Certificates. Our money has built great industries—to turn out planes and ships and munitions of war that cost staggering sums.

We have lent our money gladly, and we shall go on and on, realizing that no effort we can make can equal that of those who are bearing the full brunt of the war. We shall accept every call for additional funds as an opportunity to do our part in saving lives, in hastening victory.

We shall gladly forego, for a little while, some of the comforts and luxuries that are ours, to the end that Canada's part in this battle for freedom and Christianity may be a glorious part.

Canada holds high the torch!
